

Dear QUT Centre for Justice Members and Friends

Call for Special Edition of QUT Centre for Justice Briefing Paper Series

Cross Disciplinary Insights on Pacific Security and Justice

QUT Centre for Justice, in conjunction with Solomon Islands Australia Partnership, USP and SINU will be releasing a Briefing Paper Series on Cross Disciplinary Insights on Pacific Security and Justice in July 2024. This special edition will explore Australia's relationship as a good neighbour to the Pacific, and will seek to build collaboration in the following research areas:

- Education
- Security
- Climate/Sustainability
- Health
- Gender

We invite contributions from academics working in any of these areas.

QUT Centre for Justice Briefing Papers must include a QUT author however we are seeking to publish collaborative papers that include both a QUT and Pacific Island researcher. If you have a topic you are interested to write about, and would like to find a Pacific or QUT partner, please contact either Professor Rowena Maguire, Director, QUT Centre for Justice (r.maguire@qut.edu.au) or Associate Professor Danielle Watson, Program Leader, Global Justice, QUT Centre for Justice (danielle.watson@qut.edu.au) .

We welcome original research, theoretical perspectives, case studies and practitioner insights. Contributions from disciplines such as law, social sciences, business, public health, education and creative industries are encouraged. Papers exploring new ideas and approaches to Justice in the Pacific are particularly welcome.

QUT Centre for Justice Briefing Papers are short, accessible accounts of issues related to justice (2000 word limit exclusive of references). Papers may be based on previously published work or present new research and ideas. Previously, Briefing Papers have been published on a range of justice-related issues including social justice, criminal justice, transport justice, environmental and energy justice, gender-based violence, exploitative work, and consumer protection. Visit QUT Centre for Justice Briefing Papers for a full library of published papers.

Papers will be edited by QUT Centre for Justice Editorial team as well as co-editors:

Dr Billy Fito'o (SINU) billy.fito'o@sinu.edu.sb

Dr Victor Alasa (USP) victor.alasa@usp.ac.fj

Timelines

Call for Papers: November 2025

Submission Deadline: 31 March 2026

Paper release: July 2026

To submit a paper

To submit a paper please see the Submission Guidelines for Authors. If you are a Practitioner wanting to write a Briefing Paper please contact qutc4j@qut.edu.au and Practitioner Guidelines can be provided.

Finalised papers should be submitted to qutc4j@qut.edu.au